DOESN'T SOMEBODY WANT TO BE WANTED

WES FARRELL
JIM CRETECOS
MIKE APPEL

I go downtown and roam around
But every street I walk I find another dead end
I'm on my own but I'm so alone
I need somebody so I won't have to pretend
I know there's someone just waitin' somewhere
I look around for her but she's just not there
Oh and doesn't somebody want to be wanted like me
A-where are you
Doesn't somebody want to be wanted like me, just like me.

I'm running free but I don't want to be
I couldn't take another day like yesterday
I'm dead on my feet from walking the street
I need somebody to help me find my way
I've got to get out of this town
Before I do I'll take a last look around
Oh and doesn't somebody want to be wanted like me, just like me.

You know I'm no different from anybody else
I start each day and end each night but it gets really lonely
when you're by yourself
Now where is love and who is love
I gotta know
Doesn't somebody want to be wanted like me
A-where are you
Doesn't somebody want to be wanted like me, just like me.

I WOKE UP IN LOVE THIS MORNING

IRWIN LEVINE
L. RUSSELL BROWN

Last night I turned out the light
Lay down and thought about you
I tho't about the way that it could be
Two o'clock wond'rin' what I'm doin' here alone without you
So I close my eyes and dream you here to me

And I woke up in love this mornin'
I woke up in love this mornin'
Went to sleep with you on my mind
Hello do dreams come true well if they do
I'll have you not for just a night but for my whole life through oh

Hello girl yes it's five o'clock.
I know but just you listen
There's something that I've got to let you know
This is you, this pillow that I'm hugging and I'm kissing
And one more thing before I let you go
(Chorus)

IT'S ONE OF THOSE NIGHTS (YES LOVE)

TONY ROMEO

It's one of those nights when you turn out the lights and you sit in the dark

And say to yourself "I miss her"

It's one of those moods when your body broods

And you conjure up her picture and you kiss her

It's one of those things for the pain it brings

You say to yourself "Hey couldn't I live without it?"

Well I think so, on the other hand I doubt it.

And so it goes it's a cold in the nose

It's a pain in the neck

It'll make you a wreck if it gets ya

It's so insane cause for all the rain when you ask yourself

Could you do it again you betcha

I hear a voice say "You got no choice" and it makes me mad

And I shout "Oh yeah who says so?"

Well of course not, on the other hand I guess so.

Suddenly she's crashing through my mind

Like waves upon the shore

And I nod my head, woah, yes love

I'd welcome you again if you knocked upon my door

If you didn't I'd seek you out, love

I'd track you down for sure like a thousand times before

Oh yes love I'd welcome you again like you know I've done before

Aah yes love you know I did before.

I THINK I LOVE YOU

TONY ROMEO

I'm sleepin' and right in the middle of
A good dream like all at once I wake up
From something that keeps knockin' at my brain.
Before I go insane. I hold my pillow to my head
And spring up in my bed, screamin' out the words
I dread, "I think I love you, I think I love you."

This morning I woke up with this feeling
I didn't know how to deal with and so
I just decided to myself I'd hide it to myself
And never talk about it and didn't I go and shout it
When you walked into the room, I think I love you,
I think I love you, I think I love you,
So what am I so afraid of? I'm afraid that
I'm not sure of a love there is no cure for.

I think I love you. Isn't that what life is made of?
Though it worries me to say that I never Felt this way, I don't know what I'm up against,
I don't know what it's all about,
I got so much to figure out. Hey! I think I love you,
So what am I so afraid of? I'm afraid that I'm Not sure of a love there is no cure for.

I think I love you. Isn't that what life is made of?
Though it worries me to say that I never felt this way.
Believe me, you really don't have to worry.
I only wanna make you happy and if you say,
"Hey, go away." I will, but I think, better still,
I'd better stay around and love you.

Do you think I have a case? Let me ask you to your face.
"Do you think you love me?" I think I love you.
Oh, I think I love you. Oh, I think I love you.

The Magic Hat

The story you are going to read is a translation and adaptation of a very old tale. I have read one version in modern french; another version in modern spanish; and even a third version in medieval spanish. I understand that the original came from India.

King Marogo was bored. He kept on walking up and down the length of his beautiful garden.

"I am getting sick and tired of the same thing every day," he said to his chancellor. "Your big job is to see I am entertained. No more dancers. No more magicians. No more story tellers. Come up with something new. Otherwise I will exile you to the island of Butoga."

"I think I have something entirely different for you," replied the chancellor, "Outside the gates of the palace are three brothers. Hilo, Milo, and Silo. With your permission I will bring them into you. So please sit on your golden throne. And listen to what they have to offer."

Five minutes later the three brothers entered the throne room. They each bowed six times according to royal regulation No. 67a. Then they arose and Hilo spoke.

"Your esteemed Majesty, it has come to our attention that you would like something new to entertain you. We have just returned from a trip to the Land of Surpriser. There we learned a new art. The three of us are brothers. Born the same day under the Star of Toro. We will make for you a magic hat. It will be made out of diamonds and pearls. And you will wear it."

"Well, come on and tell me, suppose I let you make this hat for me, what is so unusual about it?"

"It is a special kind of magic hat," explained the second brother, Milo. "You put it on your head. If a man is lying or is deceitful, he is unable to see the hat. Only a man who is honest and loyal and always tells the truth can see the hat on your head. When an ambassador from another country visits your court, with this hat you can find out if he is lying or not. And you can also judge everybody in your court and in your kingdom by wearing the hat."

"That's a honey of an idea," smiled the king. "O.K. on it. You get the best suite of rooms in my place. All the food you want. And I will issue an order to Zaber, in charge of my royal treasury, to give you all the diamonds and pearls you need. Anything else?"

"Just one other item," said the third brother, Silo. "We do not want to be disturbed while making this hat. It should take us about two months."

Each day seemed a year to the impatient king. Finally out came the three brothers. One placed the hat on his head and the king looked into the mirror. He saw nothing! Then he remembered the magic about this hat. So he called into his throne room all his top men and told them about the magic hat.

They saw nothing at all on his head. But what could they do or say to the king? To deny that there was a hat on his head was to admit that they did not tell the truth. So each praised the beauty of the hat.

"Each diamond is like a star in the sky," said one man.

"Words are useless to even try to describe its beauty," said another man.

Then the king had certain important people from his realm come to see the hat on his head. Each had been warned about the magic power in it. And alas, each being frightened, also praised the hat. But there was a ten year old boy who looked and looked at the king and then finally spoke his thoughts.

"Somebody is making a big fool out of you, Your Majesty. You have no hat on your head. Bet those fakers who made it aren't here at all."

The king sent his guards to get the three brothers. They had vanished. Alas, too late he realized he had been fooled. He then dismissed every person except the boy. He sent for Zaber and told him what had happened.

"The only smart person in my kingdom seems to be a ten year old boy," sighed the king.

"He should be," grinned Zaber. "He is my son. Don't worry about the diamonds and pearls. Wait till those three-fakers try to sell them. I gave them the imitation diamonds and pearls we used last year at the big affair. You see, I recognized them from the old country."
