POINT ME IN THE DIRECTION OF ALBUQUERQUE

TONY ROMEO

Window walkin' downtown, feelin' mighty good
And I noticed from the corner how <sup>all</sup> alone she stood
Underneath the lamplight, an angel in disguise
Lonely little run-a-way with tear drops in her eyes.

Crazy little rag doll her hair was wild and tossed
And I put my arm around her 'cause I knew
That she was lost, she didn't seem to notice that Anyone was near 'til suddenly she turned to me
And whispered in my ear.

Point me in the direction of Albuquerque,
I want to go home, And help me get home.
Point me in the direction of Albuquerque
I need to get home, need to get home.

Showed me a ticket for a Greyhound bus,
Her head was lost in time, She didn't know who
Or where she was and anyone that helps me
Is a real good friend of mine. Point me
In the direction of Albuquerque I need to get home,
Help me get home. Walked her to the station
And kissed away the tears, knowing I'd remember
Through all the coming years, rag doll on the Greyhound,
Who waved with all her might, weeping
Against the windows as the bus rolled out of sight.

Point me in the direction of Albuquerque,
I want to go home, and help me get home.

Point me in the direction of Albuquerque
I need to get home, need to get home.

Point me in the direction of Albuquerque
I want to go home, and help me get home.

GERRY GOFFIN

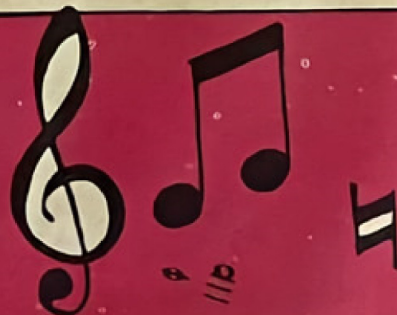

I'm here you're here
I don't care where you been before
You're the sweetest thing I ever saw

What could you do, what could you say to make me wanna go away
I know, I know I never wanted anyone more hey hey

Baby you know if I go it's gonna be a long walk home
And a pretty thing like you shouldn't spend her time alone
No shouldn't spend her time alone

And I know that you'll be sorry if I'm gone
Hearts beat we know what we're sayin'
Don't run away
Eyes meet why are we playin' all those games that children play.

A GRIN ON YOUR CHIN

The Item

My Aunt Alice is a very clever woman. She has made a lot of money in the stock market, in real estate, and in loans. Even her personal attorney, John Wiltman, has learned to respect her views. Though he has admitted at times he can't figure out just how her brain cells operate.

She went through the Sunday paper very carefully. Then cut out a page and showed it to me.

"Biggest department store in the world. That's what they claim. Say they have every item in stock. Of course that would also mean if it isn't in the store it is in the warehouse. Now get this one. They will pay one thousand dollars to any person who comes in and wants an item that they haven't in stock. Provided the person has sufficient money to pay for it. Watch me collect that money. We go there on Thursday morning with my attorney."

What does she have in mind? How is she going to do it? So I go there with her. She calls for the manager of the section. Introduces herself, her attorney, and myself.

"I am going to ask you to sell me an item you haven't got. And hence you must pay me the one thousand dollars."

"Well, madam, what is it?" asks that manager hesitatingly.

"I want a second hand baby submarine. Here are statements. They sell for $350,000.00 New. Here are my bank statements and credit rating. I figure a second hand one is worth $200,000.00. Deliver or pay me!"

Alas, they didn't have it in stock or in the warehouse. So they paid her. And they figured it was well worth the publicity they got.

The Plane Ride

There are parents, teachers, child specialists, and psychologists who claim they are experts on the mind of a child. But I claim that there are times you are totally unaware of what passes through the brain cells of a child. I have a nine year old son. He is very intelligent. Not on my say-so. But on the results of the Intelligence Test given to him. And he shows it in many ways. He is also a perfect gentleman.

Recently I took him with me on a plane trip cross the country. It was a combination business and pleasure trip for me. On the plane he acted like any normal adult. We walked into the lounge. He watched two men playing chess. One man remarked to him:

"Did I make the correct move?" in a rather jesting tone.

My son then spent five minutes explaining why the move was wrong and what the proper move should have been. When we left the plane the stewardess said to me:

"If every child acted the way your son does, this would be a wonderful job."

But something was bethering my son. When we came to his uncle's house he was asked:

"How did you enjoy your plane ride here?"

"Terrible," he said. "I was terribly disappointed. I only wished a hijacker was aboard with a machine gun and bomb. And threatened to blow up the big plane. That would have been something."

"And what would you have done, my young would-be hero?" he was asked.

Taking out his water pistol from his pocket, he said: "I would have killed him!"

The Jude Expert

Captain William Myerson of the 34th. Police Precinct tells this particular story.

"When the warm weather comes, the elder women in the apartment houses give us one big headache. They open the door to their apartment. Some open it widely. Others part ways. This gives a sneak thief an easy way to get some valuables. He's in and out of an apartment in a flash.

We had reports of a big man beginning to terrorize the neighborhood. He used violence on some of his victims. Then took his time and packed a lot of things into a valise or a bundle. The community offered a reward of $500.00 for his arrest. The solution was simple: Keep that door locked. Don't open unless you know who is outside the door.

Mrs. Mamie Nercher lived in apartment 6B, at 2945 Grand Avenue which is in my precinct. She is a widow and she has passed the 75 mark. I would say she is about 80 or 81. A very nice old quiet woman. A patrol car is passing that house when a neighbor runs out and stops it.

"Go up to apartment 6B. That burglar is up there. I think he is killing the old woman."

So up ran the two officers. And what do they see? That old lady is lifting and bouncing the intruder off the wall. It's he who is calling for help. They arrest him. He's our man. She gets the reward. I want to know where she learned Jude.

"I watch the late shows on TV" she tells me. "I know boxing, wrestling, kicking, and karate. Want to give me a job?"
