

Too Hard Or Love Too Hard?

She sat in the living room in her fashionable Beverly Hills home. She was sipping an iced tea as the sun poured in through the windows. The room was decorated in pastel colors, which happen to suit Shirley's life-style.

"I'm a person who likes to have cheerful surroundings," she told this reporter. "Even in my personal life I like cheerful people to be with me. That is why I'm so happy to be married to Jack Cassidy. He is one of the most fun-loving people in the whole world."

"How about his son, David?" we wanted to know.

Shirley smiled the smile of a proud mother. "Well, they say the apple doesn't fall far from the tree—and in the case of Jack and David Cassidy, they couldn't be more correct. Not only does David share his father's singing and acting talent, but his keen sense of humor as well. David is a young man who loves practical and fun-loving jokes. But with all of his jokes being played on his family and friends, he never hurts anyone, physically or psychologically. He is probably one of the most thoughtful human beings God ever put on earth. I am (Continued on page 50)