Hello there!

The big news of the month centres on David, and I simply can't hold it back any longer. This month is due to see the release of a new David Cassidy single! What better way to prove that all those rumours about him quitting the pop scene were wrong? Of course, David's known the true details all along, but — as he's explained time after time — he couldn't pass them on to you till he'd got all the red tape tied up in neat little knots!

Anyhow, at time of going to press, he'd given the okay for us to tell you that he had quite a spell in the studios at the end of June and laid four brand new tracks. All of them are numbers by Tony Romeo, and we all know the kind of hit material that guy can come up with! Of course, David and Tony have a great time working together, and David's hoping this'll come through when you listen to the songs. One thing's for sure, he sounded very happy about the whole set-up when I talked to him recently. If you want more details about track titles and what the songs are about, you'd better make sure of your copy of the August edition of the David Cassidy magazine, 'cos it'll all be in there!

And now for the other piece of good news that we've all been waiting to hear: the Partridge Family will be back into filming some time during the course of this month! Latest predictions give the 6th as the earliest possible starting date, with the pessimistic types backing the 13th as being more likely. We're certainly not going to quibble about that! It's enough for us that the Partridges will be back at Columbia Ranch any time now! I was beginning to wonder if this season would ever happen at all . . . As it is, there will have been a delay of three whole months in getting the cameras rolling.

Of course, one of the big advantages of having all the Partridges at the Ranch every day is that we have lots more chances of bringing you up-to-date action shots of all the exciting things that'll be going on over there. You can bet that our photographer will be right at the head of that queue waiting to get on to the Ranch on the first day back. And we'll be bringing the results to you just as fast as we can get them into print!

Meanwhile, the Partridge stars have been making the most of their last month off, and have been slipping out of town for short extra vacations before getting down to the new season's work. That's probably one thing that you've got in common with your favourite stars right now — holidays! Maybe you're even reading this while you're lounging on the beach soaking up the sunshine . . . At least, I hope that's the way it is, and not that you're crouched over your 'Superstar' huddled in the corner of a gusty rain shelter somewhere!

Anyhow, wherever you are and whatever you're doing, have a great August! And if you share Danny's Birthday month — Happy Birthday to you too!
