

The Ultimate Cassidy

When 'King of Teenybop' - David Cassidy - makes his entrance, no girl's eyes stay dry. He has become the No. 1 dream subject of hysterically screaming, sobbing, trembling teenagers, the common property of millions, the victim of his own fame. His fans, mostly girls, show such fanatical adoration for 'Darling David' that until now only the strictest security measures have prevented David from being literally torn to pieces. What was initially great fun has now become a nightmare for Cassidy: 'I love my fans and don't hold anything against them. Still, when I think about the fact that I should never venture out on the streets alone, unless it's with suicidal intent, it does make me a little pensive. And all the money I've accumulated in the meantime can never replace the freedom I've lost.'