THE MANY FACES OF DAVID

◀ We found David in a pensive mood. 'Sometimes, I feel I have to get away from everybody and everything. It's so hard to do, that when I manage to be alone, I find I really appreciate it."

"But it's so nice to get all your letters." David told us. "I really dig hearing about your ideas, your thoughts, your moods–even your criticisms! I'm sure it helps me to understand you more."

"Sometimes, I find myself wondering about the future–not just my own, but everyone's. I guess I just take life as it comes. I try not to worry too much. Things are going wrong. And reading your letters always reassures me when I'm feeling low"

"It's weird thinking back to the days when no one knew me and I was struggling. I guess I have all you to thank for where I am now. All I can say to people just starting in the pop business is try never to say die!"
