Hello!

It is now well over two years since many of the top superstars like David Cassidy, Slade, the Osmonds etc., first boomed onto the pop scene.

As I mentioned in a recent issue, many of you have written in asking for more features about other leading groups and artists, like Gary Glitter, Roxy, the Faces etc. At the same time we have had many requests for more articles about learning to play the guitar, drums or keyboard; how to form a group; and even for information about how to become a songwriter. Obviously many of you have started to take a very keen interest in playing and singing yourselves.

We have decided that the only answer is to put all your requests into a bigger MUSIC WORLD & SUPERSTAR. We will still include most of the present features—which you have told us you like so much, but also lots of other articles about the sort of things you have asked us to write about.

We will also be running competitions for big prizes in the big, new MUSIC WORLD & SUPERSTAR. For example, there will be ten guitars to be won in a great competition in the February issue.

So don't forget to ask your local newsagent to reserve the February issue of the big, new MUSIC WORLD & SUPERSTAR for you.

There isn't enough room here to explain exactly what we are going to do, but if you turn to pages 10 and 12 you will find out much more about our important new publication.

See you next month.

Pat
