Three weeks before his German tour, which starts on May 19, BRAVO correspondent Frances Schoenberger surprised David at his house with a mailbag from Germany. Contents: Your letters to him. When Frances came to me with the huge postbag, I freaked out. I had never expected so many letters to me! And when she explained to me: "This is just the modest beginning, about 2000 letters.

The remaining 33,000 are currently on their way from Munich to Los Angeles", I started to spin. That's incredible! Frances immediately set about translating part of it for me. Oh boy, it's your own fault if you don't get megalomaniac and conceited! When so many girls-and pretty girls at that-give you so many compliments... I hope you don't think I'm bragging: They were genuine, beautiful declarations of love. It's great to know that so many people like you... But what pleased me even more: Almost all the girls who have written to me not only like me, but also my music. And that is worth much, much more to me as a singer than anything else. For example, 17-year-old Monica from Gau Algesheim said that my last LP "Dreams are nothing more than Wishes" was much better than my first LP "Cherish". That makes me happy. Because unlike my first records, I chose all the songs on the "Dreams" LP myself for the first time and not let the producers talk me into it. After all, two of the songs ("Can't go home again" and "It's preying on my Mind") were written by me. Many BRAVO readers ask me if I have a steady girlfriend. I don't have one yet! I've had a few disappointments recently - the girls I met all just loved David Cassidy, the star. They were hoping,
