

David's Secret Visit to BRAVO

It happened on a Sunday afternoon.
Golden boy David Cassidy flew secretly from London to Munich. His destination: the BRAVO editorial office. He brought lots of news with him.....

David in Munich: Still a little tired from the flight, David climbed into the bus at Munich airport that BRAVO had hired for him and his companions

In the editorial office of BRAVO, David Runächst looked at all the new BRAVOS and BRAVO-poste. It's a pity that there are no such nice posters of me in America, he said

The pants that David wore to our editorial office resemble a colorful picture book. They came from a boutique in Beverly Hills

Stopover at the hotel Before David went to the BRAVO party in a Munich disco, he changed his clothes at the hotel. The amulet is a gift from his mother

All Cassidy fans can rest assured: His hair is now almost the same as before. And what about his glasses? They were just sunglasses! Sometimes it's fun for me to be a completely new guy," explained David