STARSCOPE

HAPPIER TIMES

What d'you think of David Cassidy's new look, then? Well, you've gotta admit he looks different — and we're certainly not complaining! Means we'll have to get hold of some dishy new pics of him, though!

THEY DID IT!

We're glad that Mac and Katie Kissoon, that brother 'n' sister duo, finally hit the charts with "Don't Do It Baby". And we're sure their next single will go pretty high, too.

STAND BY JOHN

We'd known all along that old Ringo was pretty good at jazzing up the oldies — but it came as a bit of a surprise when we heard John Lennon had been at it, too! We're all knocked out by the result, though. Just sit back and listen to his hit single "Stand By Me" — you'll see (or hear) what we mean!

RUDEY RUDES!

Slade recently had a spot of bother with the BBC. You see, Auntie Beeb objected to some of the words in their latest single, "Thanks for the Memory." Everything's alright now, tho'. The boys just went into the studio and changed the words in question. It's certainly got us all guessing, tho'!

IN HAND...PIE-EYED

Mick Ronson really goes for hand-painted clothes, we've heard. The shirt in this piccy, for example, was, specially designed for him by a young lady called Sezya.

The piccy was taken at Mick's London flat, before he took off to tour the States. Like so many other stars, he's planning to stay there for a while — about a year, probably. And he's hoping for a chance to play with David Bowie again while he's over there.

How's this for a piece of top gossip? . . . Would you believe that 10cc really go a bundle on custard pies — 'specially when they're hurling 'em at their roadies!

"It's the obvious thing to do after a concert," they told us. Apparently they indulge quite regularly!

But who usually wins? "Our roadies do!"

Well, don't despair, lads. You just need more practice!
