

BRAVO reader flew from Rastatt to Los Angeles to present the Bronze Otto

Annette's dream trip to David

"I am the happiest girl in the world...", Annette Ottow (18) wrote to David Cassidy after her 10,000-kilometer flight across the pond. Here you can see how she was received by him in private and what other unforgettable things she experienced in Hollywood...

I have to sit down for a moment..." Annette stammered as she stood opposite David Cassidy in his house in Hollywood. He's so cute..." she whispered, almost unable to contain her excitement. David's wife Kay Lenz and the two dogs Bullseye and Sadie looked on curiously, Kay put the bouquet of flowers Annette had brought her in a vase, David served wine to celebrate the day and, as always since he has known Kay, was in a great mood. He took Annette on a tour of his so-called "townhouse", where he lives with Kay when they are both in Hollywood. When Annette presented David with the Otto, he put on a guilty face and said with a grin: "Actually, I don't deserve the Otto, I haven't done anything at all in the last year. Maybe next year I'll get an Iron Otto for being the most inactive singer." Annette unpacked her guest present, an illustrated book about her Black Forest homeland. David leafed through it with interest and laughed when he spotted a photo of Annette that she had stuck inside. So that you don't forget who gave you the book," she explained. Let's go out for dinner together," Kay Lenz suggested. In a Japanese restaurant, David "fed" Annette with the help of chopsticks and chatted with her for hours, naturally also about his new plans. "I'm working on a movie script with a friend," he revealed to Annette, "there are two super roles in it, one for Kay and one for me." David wants to devote himself more to acting again soon. I haven't got Otto for that yet," he grinned. When the farewell was over, with lots of hugs and kisses, Annette smiled transfigured: "Now I'm going to lie down in my big hotel bed to digest this wonderful evening and relive everything in my mind. Then I have to give a talk at my school about my trip around the world. They'll be very envious of me..."
