robberies includes young Danny Goodson (Cassidy), a member of Mark's neighborhood basketball squad. The boy is dominated at home by his shrewish mother (Marica Brask); and is desperate for money to buy gifts for his girlfriend Jamie (Miss McMyler), a patient in a mental hospital. Mark Sanger (Mitchell) figures out the connection and begs the boy to go to the police so that Fagin-like Arnold Cane (Alan Oppenheimer) will be apprehended. Cane has no intention of allowing such a break.
