

... David Cassidy's only a couple of years out of his teens, and he's already shopping for a one-man helicopter (that's what sudden stardom does for the fantasies of a kid who just wanted pop's car keys a few record hits ago).