

The teenyboppers' super-puppy, David Cassidy, not only wrapped up a cover story on Life — but he found the new hideaway house he's been looking for. It's in the San Fernando Valley and comes equipped with electric gates. That may be enough to discourage the pretty, panting females who haunt David's Hollywood house. But I doubt it. His show, The Partidge Family, is holding its own in the Nielsen ratings: it was No. 12 in the latest . . .